we, the class of '39
take this space to drop a line.
buying this book, you
won't regret,
it holds fond memories
you'll not forget.

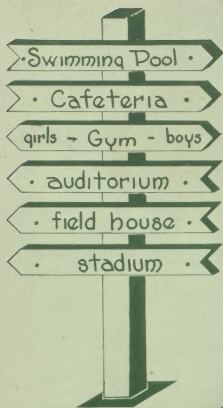

this book is not a
costly thing,
but joy and gladness
it will bring.
and late in life, when
old and gray
bring back thoughts
of high school days.

we, the senior class of '39 dedicate this edition of "the chart" to the new technical high school of tomorrow. our visions of the new tech are pictured for you in this book.

“the new tech”

In our vision of the future Tech we see a new and larger building, and a sufficient number of shops and classes to cope with the ever-increasing demands of this region. Tech will provide a gymnasium, swimming pool, auditorium and other improvements for the boys and girls who will help to build a suitable background for our community.

The unflinching courage and spirit of the student body has kept the school ahead. Let us ever strive to promote Tech and our dream will soon be realized.

We, as graduating seniors, hope that in the near future this dream will become a reality for the pupils of Technical High School.

hands!

The work of the world must be planned;
This is the part
Of the thinker.
He dreams dreams; sees visions
Of things that are to be.

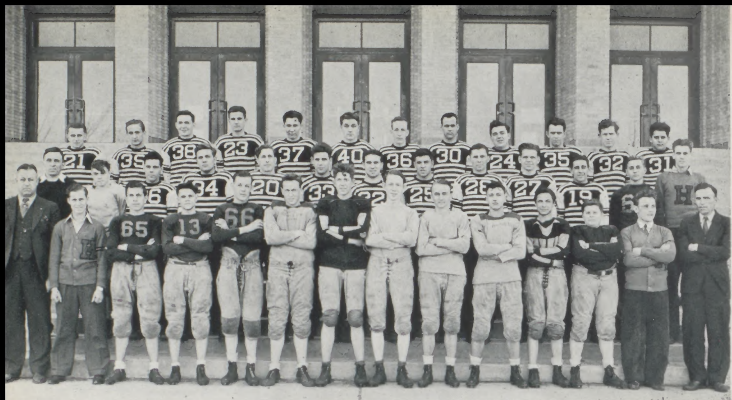

The work of the world must be done;
Strong hands
Trained hands
They build buildings; run machines
Hands do what the thinker has planned.

Hands do the work of the world!

tech's baseball season

Hammond Tech's baseball team lost the majority of their games this season. No win was chalked up until they met Hammond High and defeated them in a well fought game. The only other victory was over Catholic Central. The coach has had to experiment with quite a few new players because some of the regulars had to go to work. There are four remaining games to be played and the outcome is expected to be much better than the first half of the season.

Some of the consistent hitters were: Captain Smith, the second baseman; Ted Paysk, outfielder who hit well until he had to quit school to go to work; Eddie Cieszkiewicz, Martin Hlinka, Chester Rasala and Ray Chmielewski also hit well at times.

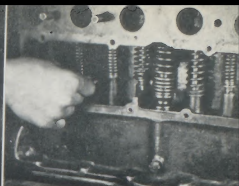

The pitchers Bill Vanes and John Hmurovich pitched good ball all the time, but were victims of poor support. Only a few regulars are returning next year.

golf

The Golf team has had one of it's most successful seasons. Not being able to use Wicker Park for practice this season as it has in the past, the team played it's first match without any practice and lost to Lew Wallace. Using a vacant lot to get a little practice over the weekend they beat Thornton Fractional on Monday, May 1, and evened up with Lew Wallace on Tuesday by beating them. On Friday, May 5th, George Rogers Clark was played and defeated at Burnham Woods. The match with Valparaiso was called off on account of a heavy rain. George Rogers Clark was beaten again on Friday, May 12, and the team traveled to La Porte the next day to compete in the conference tournament. They settled things with Valparaiso by defeating them in the tournament, but finished sixth in the conference which was still in the upper half of the bracket. Playing Hammond High School at the Woodmar Country Club proved to be one of the closest matches of the year. Hammond High School won it at the last hole. A return match was played with Thornton Fractional and Tech won again. Of the seven matches played five were won, and two were lost. The Tech team was composed of John Grelak, Stanley Mareachen, John Kucer, Joe Kucer, Steve Zack and Steve Budnik.

girls' glee club

Important among the numerous school activities is the Girls' Glee Club of sixty-five members.

Their uniforms of gold blouses and brown skirts emphasize the school colors.

At least two semesters of general chorus are required before a girl is eligible for Glee Club. Only those whose voices are pleasing and who have acquired the ability to read music satisfactorily are accepted for membership. Music for their own enjoyment and for the pleasure of others is the first aim of the Glee Club. Their repertoire is chosen from the best in choral material.

The Glee Club sings each year at the annual concerts of the school, the Spring All City Music Festival, Commencement and other places. For several years the girls have provided Christmas music for the Hammond Woman's Club.

From the Glee Club, a small group of girls called the Special Chorus is chosen each year to sing when the entire group cannot appear.

During the second semester a Mixed Chorus has been formed by combining the Glee Club with the Boys' Chorus. This chorus also sang at the Spring Concert and All City Music Festival.

band

The Technical High School Band is one of the organizations of which the school is very proud. The band was organized in October, 1927, with less than fifteen members. At the present time, it is composed of sixty-three musicians. Twelve of these members are graduating seniors. The band has played on several occasions, both civic and school, during the year. It has presented two evening concerts, played short concerts at the football games, Brook's House, Masonic Temple, Music Festival, Official Dedication of Hammond's new Civic Center, and the Technical High School Graduation Services. Within the band are two ensembles: cornet trio and the brass sextette. The ensembles have given short programs for various organizations.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Tech's first Athletic Council was organized January 11, 1938. It consisted of two representatives elected from each of the forty advisories. The faculty advisors are Miss Richmond and Miss Sinden.

The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest in the school activities, encourage better school spirit, and to keep people informed concerning all activities. In view of this, the council edited the "Tech Speculator" for three semesters beginning March 11, 1938. This past semester Dorothy Collins and Raymond Koniarski served as the Editors-in-Chief and all Council members served as reporters.

This year the Council provided uniforms for the cheerleaders and codliver oil for the basketball players. These were financed by the Tech pins and semester subscriptions to the selling of the "Tech Speculator." This organization also sponsored the choosing and training of five cheerleaders.

safety at tech

Tech students have again established an enviable shop safety record. During the past school year embracing 420,000 shop students hours, not a single serious injury was recorded. Most credit for this splendid showing is due to the efforts of the student safety council, in co-operation with instructors and the ready response of the general student body.

The Tech school boy patrol, served throughout the year. The quality of their work can again be described as — "a job well done." Only one minor accident was reported throughout the school year, with no injury involved.

It has been the chief aim of our safety classes to develop in the minds of the students the proper attitude toward safety. Courtesy, care, and fair play have been stressed. We feel that safety is a vital factor in our health and happiness and should be observed at all times.

In behalf of Class '39, we wish to express our gratitude to the faculty of Technical High School for their help and untiring efforts in all perplexing matters which came before us.

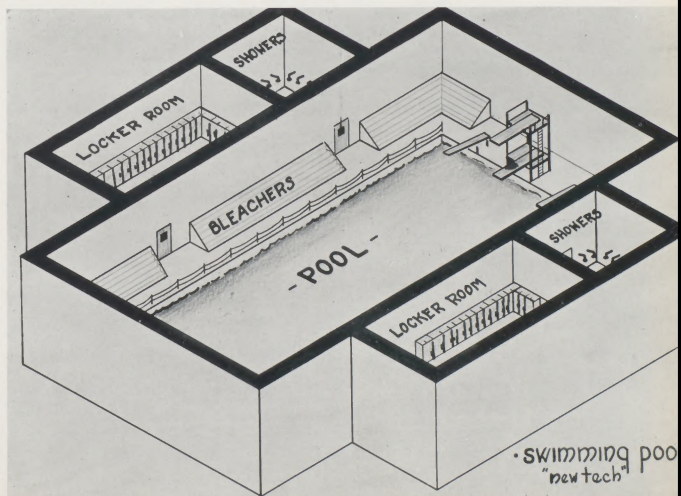

In the future when we have established ourselves as leaders in the activities of our particular communities we can look back and thank the members of the faculty for their inspiration.

senior play

"Life Begins at 16" is a heart-warming comedy of sixteen-year olds that captures the language, the spirit, and the very soul of young America.

Paul and Frannie, the sixteen-year old twins are the central characters. Paul is an imaginative, sensitive boy who has just discovered the meaning of the word "ideals." Frannie is more direct — charming and wholesome and ready for life.

As the play opens Mrs. Hollis has just won a radio contest for naming a new beauty soap, and has been rewarded with a trip to Havana for herself and her husband. Paul takes advantage of their absence and decides to exercise his right as "head of the family," although these rights are only temporary. First of all, he thinks the Hollis Shoe Store should be modernized; he puts on a sale, with an orchestra, live models, and all the trimmings. Then he turns to the private life of his sister, Marjorie. He believes that her suitor, Crandal Smythe, is a racketeer, and sets out to prove it. He enlists the "Secret Seven," an organization of which he is president, to aid him.

The third act is a "ball," given by the "Secret Seven" to celebrate the success of their plans. They have counted their chickens too soon. Instead of success, their efforts seemed to bring disaster which is enhanced by the unexpected return of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis. But fate has an ace in the hole — several aces — and the playing of them enables Paul and Frannie to turn the tables in a wholly satisfactory manner.

Has been the most influential factor

The "Ghost" in the Ancient Crucible is Today's most Modern Fuel!

● In 1609 John van Helmont, an alchemist, was bending over his crucible when something strange happened. He described it thus . . . "then the heated crucible did belch forth a wild spirit . . . I call it by the name of Geest." He had discovered gas and had named it because of its intangible quality—ghost or spirit.

The test tube has given place to the gas pipe, the crucible to the gigantic gas holder and the alchemist's haphazard experiment to the rigorous research of the gas industry. Gas is no longer elusive. Today it is subjected to the most exact control and has become the cleanest, most dependable and convenient of heating fuels.
